Two new ski shops to open near skiway

Two new ski shops are expected to open near the Sunday River skiway in time for the 1987-88 ski season. The larger shop is a Jack Frost outlet, and will be located on the skiway access road, in Newry. The smaller shop will be located on the Sunday River Road, in Bethel, and will be a rental shop. The owners of this shop are Bouchika's Ski Shops, of Haverhill, Groundbreaking for the three-story building to house the new Jack Frost shop took place last week. Andover Log Homes is the contractor and Ken Studley, of Jackson, N.H., is the architect. On the first level of the shop will be ski rentals and repairs. The second level will offer skis and equipment and ski for the time being but will have plumbing and electrical service. Future plans call for the space to be turned into four the property-the former Randy Baker property-will be refurbished and rented

The new shop will have 14 employees; the manager will be Dennis Doyon, who presently manages the shop at Barker Mountain. That shop will continue to serve skiers at Sunday River, with rentals and repairs, even after the new shop opens for business. Jack Frost also operates the ski shop at Mt. Abram Ski

Many argued that the new national government would not have the power to infringe on any individual's rights. Others were concerned that a list of individual rights could lead to the denial of any rights that were not explicitly

The Convention finally sent the docuwithout a Bill of Rights. But in the process of ratification, so many states conditioned their acceptance of the document on the addition of a Bill of Rights that drafting this became the first order of business for the first Congress elected under the new Constitution.

'Exercise' classes popular held on Thursday evenings from 7-0 at part of adult ed. program

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education will offer a variety of opportunities for adults to increase their physical fitness through exercise. For the first time according to Adult and Community Education Director Cathy Newell, exercise classes will be offered bu adult education in Andover, Bethel, and Bryant Pond.

Exercise Workout taught by Pat Morey will lead students through a program of exercise emphasizing fitness and flexibility at Telstar on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6:30-7:30. It is possible to enroll for one, STEP/TEEN PROGRAM TEACHES two or three sessions per week. Morey is fresh from a week-long Exercise Instructor Training at the University of Maine at Farmington this summer and plans to include exciting new ideas in her classes this fall. Pre-registration is required for this class and those enrolling will be asked to complete a brief survey to assist the instructor in planning the sessions. The new Woodstock School will be the site of Exercise to Music on Monday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 8 with Linda Best as the instructor. This class combines slow stretching, aerobics and relaxation exercises. Carol Emery will be back at the Andover Elementary School on Mondays and Thursdays with an Exercise class from 7 to 8, followed by Aerobics from 8 to 9. Students may enroll for both classes or just one.

Other options for exercise on a regular basis in adult education include Adult Coed Volleyball on Wednesday nights from 7-9 in the Telstar gym. This popular activity will feature team competition, with players assigned to specific throughout the seven week fall season, followed by play-offs. Adult Co-ed Basketball will be

Daytime classes in adult education

The SAD #4 Adult and Community Education program is offering an increased number of daytime classes this fall, according to program Director Cathy Newell. "Responding to the requests of senior citizens and others who are able to take daytime classes, we have been able to schedule some exciting classes, and are grateful for the cooperation of area organizations in making this possible through the use of their facilities," Newell stated.

Daytime classes include Conversational French on Monday afternoons at the Bethel Library, and Art Appreciation, also at the library, on Wednesday mornings. There will be an Advanced Quilting on Tuesday mornings at the library. The West Parish Congregational Church in Bethel will be the site of a parenting skills class, Systematic Training for Effective Parenting, on Thursday mornings. The Bethel House on Main Street will host Bridge classes on Tues-

EFFECTIVE PARENTING

Improving relationships between parents and teenagers will be the focus of a series of discussion sessions beginning on Sept. 23 at Telstar Regional High School in Bethel. The program is sponsored by SAD #44 Adult and Community Education with Laurie Hoeh as leader. The discussions wil be based on Systematic Training for Effective Parenting of Teens (STEP/Teen).

STEP/Teen is a sequel to Systematic Training for Effective Parenting-the most widely used parenting program in the country. More than one million people throughout the United States, Canada, and other countries have participated in the STEP and STEP/Teen groups since the introduction of the original STEP program in 1976.

STEP/Teen encourages mutual respect between parents and teenagers. It leads to increased cooperation, more effective communication, and a more responsible, self-reliant attitude among teenagers. Parents who have participated in STEP programs say they found the program beneficial for many reasons.

This session allows adults who are interested in preparation or practice testing for the GED High School Equivalency Exam to work at their own pace under the direction of Merrill Bittner. Ms. Bittner will also be available during this time to work with individuals on career choices, job hunting skills, or guidance about educa-

Can anyone give me the address for the family of Doris Lord? I sent a card to Donald Lord at the address listed in the Apopka phone book, but it was returned. I was very saddened to hear that Doris Lord had passed away. I grew up in Bethel and moved away in 1944. I had not seen or heard of Doris Lord in all those intervening years. In 1986 my husband and I were managers of a mobile home park in Apopka, Fla. Last August (1986) Doris called me, and I immediately remembered the vibrant lady with the Americans debated then, as they have great big heart and tremendous piano ability. She came and visited and played the piano on several occasions for our residents. They fell in love with her. It was obvious that her health was deteriorating very rapidly, but she still had the same energetic spirit and tremendous personality. The last time I saw Doris was in April of 1987. She was in a Florida hospital. Sickness had taken its toll. She told me at that time that she wanted to go to a nursing home in Maine, to be back with her friends.

We will miss Doris Lord. Peggy Hanscom Barton 29 Teakwood Lane Lady Lake, Fla. 32659 P.O. Box 1144

Houlton, Maine 04730 To the Editor:

Thanks to you and your colleagues in the media business we have been inundated lately by news of condominiums and other development. In fact, I have not been anywhere in the state recently where "development" was not the primary topic of discussion. It is easy to feel, as many seem to do, that we are destined for a future of uncontrolled growth, polluted waters, and ravaged

I think it is time for you and your industry to recognize and celebrate the positive benefits of development pressure. As I look about the area, I see people accepting the challenge of planning for the future and coping with the pressures of the present by banding together in the kind of community action groups that (I) have not seen in years. In recent weeks we have seen Comprehensive Plans overwhelmingly accepted in Bethel, met with positive response at public hearing in Newry, and begun in Woodstock. One hundred people turned out for the August meeting of the Albany Improvement Association, A Community Lakes Association has been formed to bring about the protection of the nine lakes and ponds in Greenwood and Woodstock. A Friends of the Androscoggin is being formed in the area. A "Community Conference" is planned for October in Bethel to continue the work of the 1986 Futuring Workshop. There is new interest on the part of citizens to serve on their towns' planning boards. Each of these actions is an example of individuals working together to seek community solutions to the challenge of growth. In each case, the attention given to development pressure undoubtedly helped people to focus on the need for action, and I thank you for that. Now let's celebrate the efforts of those who have chosen to take the course of positive action to provide for an ordered future rather than accepting defeat in a chaotically changing world. Beyond that, let's encourage others to join with them in the true spirit of community planning. Steve Wight

To the Editor:

Keep up the good work with the Citizen! I had decided to let our subscription lapse but then realized how much I look forward to reading about our old town and the people in it. I fear for the effects the fast growth will have on the area and hope Bethel can maintain its charm and small town feeling.

Sunday River announces '87-'88 calendar of events

Lynne Hodgkin, promotions coordinator at Sunday River Ski Resort, announced the calendar of events for the 1987-88 season. The fourth annual Blue Mountains Arts & Crafts Festival, a celebration of western Maine folk arts. kicks off a season of special events for the entire family, Oct. 10-11.

Skiers are welcomed home on Opening Day, scheduled for early November. December is Learn-to-Ski Month at Sunday River, and Santa makes his traditional stop at the resort to ski with the kids Christmas Day.

Celebrate an old-fashioned winter carnival during Western Mountains Winter wonderland Week, Feb. 2-12, 1988. Fireworks will light up the March sky at Mardi Gras, Easter is in the heart of spring skling this season. The annual Easter sunrise mountaintop service, traditional hearty Maine breakfat and children's Easter egg hunt is April 3. The season winds up with a free day of skiing, Ski Maynia, on May 1-Sunday River's unofficial last day of skiling. For details and a copy of Sunday River's 1987-88 Calendar of Events, call or write Lynne Hodgkin, at Sunday River Ski Resort, P.O. Box 450, Bethel, Me. 04217, telephone number 824-2187.

your 'critical difference.' In other words, f a school scores fewer than 50 points above or below the state average then it might be said that the school scored at or near the state-wide performance level." Simply speaking, if an eighth grade scored 200 on the math section of he MEA and the state average was 245. that class would be considered at or near state average.

In closing, it is important that parents understand the reason for the Maine Educational Assessment Test. When headlines proclaim that 'Scores Have Risen Dramatically," or that "Scores Are Declining Sunstantially," newspapers have misrepresented the intent and the ability of the test. Every child, indeed every class, is unique. If a child is to be compared, let him be compared using his own personal growth and potential as he progresses through his years in school.

The grade 11 fest scores will show a drastic decline from the 1996 scores. Normally, the assessment tests are given during one week in March. Due to school days lost during the flood and career awareness week, the testing took over two and half weeks to complete. In fact, 14 students (of 12 percent of grade 11) did not complete at least one section of the assessment test due to the length of the testing period.

Thank you for allowing me the time to clarify some of the issues.

'Homework." Your third grader never seems to have any homework. The 12-year-old intends to do his "later," after a very important TV show. And, if you check the high school sopohomore, you'll discover she's solving those algebra problems while listening to rock music or talking on the telephone.

Should parents get involved in homework? If so, to what extent? Homework is essentially a matter between teacher and child, a means by which the students develop self-reliance, learning to work on their own and to take responsibility for their work. Although parents can certainly give a bit of help on special assignments, they defeat this purpose if they regularly insert themselves into the learning process, sitting nlongside their children every evening, checking each paper or doing research.

Here are a few tips that may help: · Each day, set aside a definite period for homework. Children feel secure with routine and are less likely to balk at study time if it is an predictable as meals or baths. Although some children don't mind mind doing their homework right after school, most seem to need some physical activity amd socializing at these hours, accepting study time more happily if it is scheduled after dinner. Whatever time is chosen, make sure it becomes a priority. If a student never seems to have any homework or says it's completed in class each day, better check with the teacher. If students are, in fact, caught up on assignments for if they are in a primary grade where homework is not given on a daily basis), establish the study habit anyway. Encourage them to read a library book, practice printing, or work on stamp collections-any intellectual pursuit that will help develop a pattern.

· Have a definite place for homework, preferably isolated from other family activities. Ideally, children should be able to study in their own bedrooms, equipped with desk, supplies, and a good reading lamp. In larger families or small living quarters, there are other options. Dining room or kitchen tables make good work spaces with large surfaces for papers and books. Roommates can share a long piece of fiberboard mounted on two cubes, where supplies can be stored. Wherever the work space, have the child use it all the time. Not only can materials be nearby, thus cutting down on time spent gathering everything together, but sitting down at a familiar spot will eventually trigger a "now it's time to study" reaction. By contrast, a youngster who wanders aimlessly each evening, looking for a place to do a math assignment, wastes a lot of energy · Keep distractions to a minimum. A home cannot be completely silent, but even the most avid scholar will become discouraged if surrounded by noise and conversation.

TV and telephone calls should be off limits during study time. If this means temporarily removing the upstairs extension phone, do it.

If teenagers insist they study better with the radio on, be sure to keep the volume low, and not be located near others who need quiet study time.

In two weeks, the topic of this column will be the district's revised attendance policy

Local 11th-graders seemed much like the average 11th-grader statewide in terms of their expectations after graduating from high school. Answering a questionnaire that came with the exam, 54 percent of local 11th-graders said they planned to go on to college (56 percent statewide answered the same); 21 percent said they wanted to enter a trade or vocational school (15 percent statewide): 15 percent said they would get a full-time job (12 percent statewide); and 10 percent said they would join the military (9 percent statewide).

The statewide testing of students' achievement is done yearly in the 4th, 8th and 11th grades. It was mandated by the Educational Reform Act of 1984, passed by the State Legislature. The assessment program was first implemented in

The scores of the district's students, in addition to being compared to state averages, are also compared with scores of students in districts that are similar to SAD #44 in terms of size and socioeconomic level. Local scores are below the scores of similar districts, except in Science, where local scores were about the same as scores in similar districts.

Bethel to be site of conference on sexual abuse

A conference to be held in Bethel Thursday and Friday (Sept. 17 and 18) will try to improve Maine's over-all handling of its response system dealing with the prevention and treatment of child sexual abuse. Called the Bethel Conference on Child Sexual Abuse, it will call together, for the second straight year, professionals representing law enforcement, the courts, corrections, child welfare, mental health, medical and educational disciplines, along with family members, survivors of abuse and community leaders.

To be held at the Bethel Inn Conference Center, it is being sponsored by the Child Sex Abuse Committee, which is part of a state governmental group, the Interdepartmental Committee, composed of liaison persons from the departments of Corrections, Educational and Cultural Services, Mental Health and Mental Retardation, plus community participants from across Maine.

Keynote speaker at the Thursday morning session will be Dr. Gene Abel, director of the Emory Clinic Behavioral Medicine Laboratory in Atlanta, Ga. He will sketch a profile, developed from data compiled from the study of over 800 sex offenders, of the types and numbers of sex crimes and what kinds of therapy programs can be effective in remedial Eight workshops will follow, on the various aspects of the problem. The second day will be involved with discussion of model systems that highlight treatment and prevention methods.

Representative from F.A.M.E. to be speaker at breakfast meeting

Charles Mercer from the Finance Authority of Maine (F.A.M.E.) will be the guest speaker at a breakfast meeting sponsored by the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce at Martha's Restaurant on Thursday, Oct. 1, from 7:30 to 9 a.m. Preregistration is required through the chamber office by Sept. 29. The fee is $5 which includes a full breakfast (choice of menu) and the meeting. A mailing has been done-please mail back your clip form or contact the chamber office at

The topic to be discussed is "How to Obtain Business Capital," and it is they have been long time visitors during targeted towards both small and big business. All are welcome.

Another week of school has sped by, this one with the long Labor Day weekend. The book fair materials arrived right on time and students and teachers are finding good buys. On Wednesday, the 4th, 5th, and 6th grades were treated to a mini-concert. Students from the junior high, along with their music teachers, presented an instrumental demonstration. Children from the 4th grade on are encouraged to take up a musical instrucment. The 4th graders begin with the stringed instruments, mostly violin. Fifth and sixth graders go on to other instruments. Lessons are given during the school day and some students take part in the elementary band and orchestra—a good preparation for junior and senior high programs, The art teacher, Mrs. Merrill, is with us this quarter and all students grade 3-6 meet with her once a week. Drawing is the main emphasis at this point and all students make a drawing book which Mrs. Merrill keeps over the years, until the end of the 6th grade year. This is a unique record to show how each student's art changes and growns. Mrs. Merrill joins us for our Friday activity period, thus providing an extra art class for interested students. Art work will also be collected from various students to be displayed in the district-wide Art Festival which will be held in the spring. This week's "Artist of the Week" is Emily

Cole, grade 3. Another "specialist" who puts in a full day's work at our school is our music teacher, Mr. Dan Barker. In addition to having a music class with all grades, K-6, Mr. Barker works with a choral group and is our mainstay whenever a classroom puts on a play. This year he is with us only one day a week, but he continues David Murphy, principal, and Jolene to promote musical activities with his usual enthusiasm!

The Greenwood Historical Society met Wednesday, Sept. 2, with 14 members present. Willie Hathaway presided and Denise Swan acted as secretary in the absence of Barbara Dunham. The society voted not to have the apple festival previously voted for this fall. Blaine Mills volunteered to put the primer coat of paint on the new addition. The building committee reported that no progress had been made on the interior work. Blaine Mills wrote an article for a book on the life of L.L. Bean which was printed for the 75th anniversary of the store. The book is not for sale but a copy was given Blaine for the historical society. The society wanted a nominating committee so the president appointed Blaine Mills as chairman to find a nominating committee. Phyllis Coolidge, assisted by her mother, Jeannette Kimball, furnished refreshments. Mary Mills will be furnishing refreshments for the October meeting. Following the meeting, Mellen Kimball presented slides on their trip to Colorado and other western states. Reminder: The Old Time Dance sponsored by the Greenwood Historical Society will be held Saturday, Sept. 26. at 8 p.m. at the Locke Mills Town Hall.

The town offers its sincerest sympathy to the family of Arthur Ring who died in Freeport this past week. Charlotte Cole took Gladys Ring, Vera Cross, and Helen Chase to visit Ruth Dunham in Bryant Pond who was celebrating her birthday Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mills were in Mexico Saturday where they accompanied their pastor, Rev. Lyle Van Horn and boys, Mark, Andrew, and Daniel, to Lewiston. They went to Marden's and the Bible Bookstore and were treated by the pastor to lunch at Burger King.

Vera Cross was a supper guest at Charlotte Cole's Saturday evening and then they both went dancing at Greene. Gerry Shimamura tells me her mother, Thelma Merrill, is home from the hospital. You can't keep a good woman down.

I'm constantly being reminded how fast time goes by these days. My daughter, Marcia Smith, and husband. Jon, will celebrate their 10th wedding anniversary Thursday, Sept. 17. Charlotte Cole took Anne Troy to Cole's

Farm in Gray for dinner where she met some friends from North Yarmouth. Charlotte also told me her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Noyes of Wilton, were recent supper guests, on Labor Day to be exact.

My first party with Perfect Party Plan was eventful. Frances Davis arrived dripping wet as she'd gone straight when the raod made a sharp left turn and had walked a ways. Anita Edwards and others went down to try to pull her back into the road, but her vehicle was too light. We called Clayton Thompson and with two vehicles he got her back on gravel. She's the second person to take the plunge into the shrubbery at the "turn-around." We were unable to have the party at the partly built new house because of the chill and rain so stuffed a Fibber McGee closet and were warm and dry. Laurie Bergeron will host a party Wednesday evening Sept. 23.

The Edwards pony arrived this week. He's a handsome young fellow who has been a show pony.

The Solomon Gays were at camp for a few days. Glenna is returning to the Norway hospital for an operation this week and will not be able to travel for some time. She had colostomy and treatments earlier and this will be a follow-up procedure.

Patrick Dapolito returned and started school in Telstar.

So. Woodstock BY OLIVE R. DAVIS

Esther Davis had supper guests Thursday night. Mr. and Mrs. Erland Twitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Hathaway and Olive Davis attended and I'm sure did justice to a bountiful meal. They enjoyed a social evening together. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brook and Olive Davis were at Rumford Point for a three Grange installation, Rumford served a six o'clock supper before hand. The Installing Master, Wayne Sherman, and staff installed Rumford, West Paris and Franklin Grange in a very able manner. Others attending from our area were: Richard Felt, Florence Gustafson, and Lucille Robbins.

Esther Davis and Olive Davis visited

Mrs. Gloria Redman, Friday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Whittemore of Livermore took dinner with Esther Davis Monday. They went for a ride over Paris Hill, Norway Lake, and Greenwood, returning home through Richardson Hollow. Olive Davis joined her family at Thompson Pond at the lot owned by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews for a cook out. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Winkle and 2 children of Northboro Mass., spent the Labor Day weekend there in their motor home.

Andrews, Lillian Harmon, Olive Davis, Mark Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Winkley, Donna, Brian, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Goldsmith, Daphne and Julie, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith, Charity, Mr. and Mrs. Kevin McGillicuddy were there in the morning but left their little daughter, Danielle, with the Winkles while they went to New Hampshire. They were returning in late afternoon to pick her up. Harry Johnson made a beautiful "Andrews" sign for Arthur in no time flat in the afternoon. It was surely a work of art. It is a beautiful little pond. There were nine ducks who came to the shore for bread they threw out to them. The children had rubber boats they inflated swim which is good too. Patricia Tibbetts and her mother, Esther Davis, went to Litchfield Sunday where they visited a cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Moreau. They had a cook out with the family and took a ride on the pond. They all

A CELEBRATION OF CITIZENSHIP

The Bicentennial Commemoration of the United States Constitution

Please take a few minutes to read this summarized version of the Constitution. Take pride in your country, your flag, and your Constitution...which insures freedom & opportunity for all.

A summary of

THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES

Werberger of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

Article I LEGISLATIVE BRANCH

Section 1: Description. The legislative branch of government, or Congress, makes all the laws. It has two parts, or houses, the Senate and the House of Representatives.

Section 2: House of Representatives. Members of the House of Representatives serve a 2-year term. They are elected by the people. Representatives must be at least 25 years old, citizens of the United States for at least 7 years, and citizens of the state they represent.

The number of representatives from each state depends on that state's population. In order to decide on the number of representatives from each state, the government must count the people every 10 years. This is called a census.

Section 3: The Senate. The Senate is made up of two senators from each state Senators have a 6-year term. Senators must be at least 30 years old, citizens of the United States for at least 9 years, and citizens of the state they represent

The Vice-President of the United States is in charge of the Senate, but may only vote in case of a tie.

Sections 4-7: Rules. Instructions on how to operate both the House and the Senate are covered. Behavior of members, record keeping, pay, and how a bill becomes a law are covered.

Sections 8-10: Duties. The exact jobs of Congress are listed. Congress makes all money and trade laws. Congress decides how people can become citizens of the United States and can declare war if necessary. Powers Congress and the states do not have are also listed.

Article II EXECUTIVE BRANCH

Section 1: Description. The executive branch is made up of the President of the United States and those who help carry out laws passed by Congress. The President manages the government. A President and Vice-President are elected to a 4-year term. A President must have been born in the United States, must be at least 35 years old, and must have lived in the United States for at least 14 years.

Sections 2-4: Duties. Some of the President's jobs include carrying out the laws made by Congress, responsibility for all the armed forces, pardoning crimes, and reporting to Congress at least once a year on what the nation is doing. The President makes treaties and appoints government leaders; the Senate must give its approval If the President does wrong, he may be removed from office.

Article III JUDICIAL BRANCH

Section 1: Description. The judicial branch of government is the federal court system. The Supreme Court is the nation's highest court. It has the final say in all matters of law Judges are appointed, not elected to Section 2: Duties. The federal courts have a say in all cases that are not entirely within a state.

Section 3: Treason. The crime of treason. trying to overthrow the government, is explained

Article iV THE STATES

Sections 14: Rules about the states. All states must accept acts, records, and laws of other states. A citizen of one state must be given the same rights as the citizens of another state he or she may be in-The governor of one state may send an accused criminal from another state back to that state for trial.

New states may be added to the United States. The United States government will protect all states from enemies

Article V AMENDMENTS

Making changes. The Constitution may be amended, or changed

Article VI HIGHEST LAW

Above all others. The Constitution of the United States is the highest law in the land State laws must be under this law. All national and state law makers and offices most support the Constitution.

Article VII

PASSING THE CONSTITUTION Ratification. This Constitution becomes law when 9 of the 13 states ratify it, or ap-

This is a still waiting kind of day before rain. I was out in quest of any thing interesting. What a privilege to spend the early afternoon poking about for rare plants and anything else botanically surprising. The discovery of something new is heady business. I climbed to the top of a hill, around boulders and ferns, and heard the call of the jay and the chickadees. What more does one need. I came down to wander off to another place near water. Frogs leaped into the pool and a heron deeply stood in the weeds.

Small valleys like this one; the soil is kept moist by runoff from the flanking slopes. Tall trees weave in and out with the wind so the soil is slower to dry out. This valley is pinched between two ridges and in places carpeted with pine needles. In this meadow-like place several good sized aspens, scattered across the narrow floor, were taking advantage of the sunlight. A white breasted nuthatch made his way down one of them, headfirst. He blended into the shadows-bluegray back cast a shadow, white breast reflected the color of the trunk. Slowly he proceeded down the trunk testing all the way for grubs under the bark.

Imperceptibly plant life is slowing down with cooler nights and shorter days. Noontime sun is warm but the mornings are chilly and quiet. Frost, a sharp line in the otherwise stately gait of the season silences the sound of summer.

This was a rewarding way to spend an hour. It was all there free and beautiful. More real, than high prices and speeding cars, which I met on my way home; reminding me that what we fail to preserve today will disappear forever.

We have new neighbors living on the Hayes Farm. Several from here attended the Masonic service for Ernest (Skip) Morris on Sept. 2. He had lived among us for many years and was a kind, thoughtful

Ettl new postmaster at Bryant Pond

The appointment of Frank Ettl as postmaster at Bryant Pond has been announced by Ray D. Stewart, general manager of the Manchester Postal

Mr. Ettl was selected on merit following the competitive procedure established by the United States Postal Service. He originally joined the Postal Service in 1981 as a postmaster relief/replacement in Hanover. Prior to his appointment to the Bryant Pond position, he served as postmaster at Hanover for six years. Mr. Ettl is a graduate of Glastonbury (Conn.) High School, and the University of Connecticut. Postmaster Ettl and his wife, Bess, reside in Hanover. As a point of interest, Mr. Ettl was selected to be the community representative at the 1987 Marksman's Fair in Hannover, West Germany, and represented the Postal Service in the capacity of postmaster of a "sister city"

The Bryant Pond Post Office provides a full range of postal services to over 800 families and businesses in the area. There are four postal employees at the facility. Immediately prior to Mr. Ettl's appointment, Wayne Cadman served as officer-in-charge. Mr. Cadler is to return to duties as a mailhandler in the management sectional center in Portland. What a lovely morning after the rainy day yesterday, but what a relief for the gardens that are left and the wells that need so much water to refill them. It was a lovely sound when the rain started and we had hoped that it would continue longer than it did. I know some folks think all they need is the sunshine, but without rain, things don't grow and the wells go dry so they should take that into consideration before wishing it was sunny all the time. Anyway, we are very grateful that we haven't been hit by frost as yet and that we finally got some water for the growth of things.

We are enjoying the nice fresh vegetables from the garden and hope to be able to continue to for a while. Russell brought in carrots, beets, broccoli and we still get an ear of corn once in a while that was slower than the rest. Still picking string beans every few days so we really have few complaints where our garden is concerned. The rain should have helped the spinach that Russell planted late and the purple headed cauliflower, also. They weren't heading as we had hoped but he has seen a few that are started so we continue to hope for the best. Beats all the canned goods from the store, any time, Last Thursday, Peggy went to Lewiston to meet a friend for lunch but something happened and the friend didn't show up. She was from the Hillsboro Club in Florida where Peggy works winters so she had hoped to see her. She hopes to find out in the near future what happened. Anyway, on her way home she stopped at one or two homes to find friends gone but finally found Pauline Kenniston at home in Norway so visited with her for a while. They went to school together and it is always nice to keep up with one's classmates. Friday was what one would call a waiting game for all of us. I had an appointment with the chiropractor. He was so busy that Russell had to wait some time. His next stop was at the hospital for therapy so Peggy had to wait to take him there. He was late getting there so after part of the therapy was done, he had to wait for the rest. In the meantikme, Peggy came to pick me up in South Paris where I had been waiting. I then went to the chiropractor and like Russell, I had to wait and then it took a long time as it was my first visit to see him. Russell and Peggy were waiting in the car for me as they had no idea how long it would be before I came out. What a waiting game! We then went and got groceries and got home to have lunch about two in the afternoon. I wasn't feeling the best so didn't try to do much the rest of the day but knit a little. Saturday morning, I decided to take it to go down to Carolyn and David Yates the garden or paints on his storage house in the afternoon for a short while as their son, David, and his new wife were being given a party for the folks around here to meet her. They were married in May but wore their wedding clothes so folks here could have pictures. The wedding being in New York, most of the relatives here didn't get to go and that is why the party. It was a lovely sunny afternoon and the party was held on the front lawn. Refreshments were served after giving a toast to the bride and groom wishing them a happy life together. It was most enjoyable and with lawn chairs for many to sit in, one could relax and meet the relatives and converse nicely. Some of the klds went swimming in the pool so all in all it was a real nice gathering. Gifts were presented to the married couple and I hope they got things they could use. Peggy and I came home a little early as I was tired and she wanted to get ready to go dancing with friends. She has such a good time at Greene dancing. She says the crowd is wonderful and you make friends so easily whether you know other's names or not. That is the kiknd of a crowd that really counts. Sunday was a day of doing what one wanted, whether it be painting on a little house for tools or typing up recipes to make a better book as I did.

Ambition wasn't too great so we each did whatever came to mind. In the afternoon, Myrna and Bernard White of Auburn came to visit Peggy and called in here for a few minutes before heading home. Grace was busy as a been doing things at home as Lawrence and granddaughter Misty had gone deep sea fishing with Laura and Bernard Hutchins of East Andover. Haven't heard whether they caught much or not but am sure they had fun. This isn't the first time they have gone. Would have liked to go along but with my weak muscles, I wouldn't be able to land a fish if I got a bite. Monday morning, I went and picked the summer squash and zucchini and froze up six packages for use this winter. They make such lovely casseroles and we like them so much. Puttered around doing this and that but not too much of anything. Went to town in the afternoon to get prescriptions filled and was lucky to get there just before the pharmacist went off duty until five in the evening. There was Grange in the evening at Bryant Pond and we went to be installed as we hadn't made it to Rumford Saturday night. Not a very big gang but had the meeting and got things done. There are still a couple of folks who should of been installed who weren't there but it will be done in the near

Did a little more freezing of broccoli on Tuesday. It has headed so nicely thus year, much better than last. It is sure adeasy as I still didn't feel too good. Wanted ding up in the freezer. Russell works in or something to keep busy most of the time and I do what I can in the house. Peggy is mak.: ig things ather home so we all keep busy. Tuesday afternoon, Barbara Yates of Bethel called in for a visit. She had had to go to South Paris for something and stopped in on the way home. Hope she does it again soon, as we enjoy company. It was good to find out about their family while talking to her.

Wednesday morning, we left home early as I had a doctor's appointment in North Bridgton. He is trying to help break this bad spell I have been havikng but don't know if we will win or not. Got back to Norway and Peggy was to meet friends in Lewiston for lunch so I had driven my car down and she drove it to North Bridgton for me. She left us and headed out on her days adventure. Russell had a doctor's appointment and wanted to get a blood test at the hospital so we did those things but had to wait as we had before. Went looking around in stores to kill time while waiting. Did a few errands and got home late for lunch. Russell picked string beans again and I called Viola to ask if she wanted them so they called in the evening when on their way to town for comething. We have given them quite a few string beans to can this year and am sure it will come in handy this winter.

Toby, her son, is getting his animals ready for the fairs that are coming up. I know he has sheep, beef for Norway or Oxford Fair and another for Fryeburg so it keeps him busy helping on the farm along with school and bowling. Don't get to see him too often but hope all is well with him.

Summer went fast and the kids are back in school so we all have to be extra careful when driving and see the kids waiting for the buses. They are precious but mischievious at times and one doesn't know what they will do in an instant, so be on the guard.

With the leaves turning and showing what is on the way, it makes one know just how short the summers are and that we should enjoy them while we can. I see signs for bus trips for the foliage and it is turning quite a lot in places but will still be a little while before it reaches the peak of color. I love the fall colors and wouldn't mind having them stick around longer than they do. Such beauty isn't found in all the land so we should appreciate it the more for that.

Have a good weekend and take care. Too many auto accidents reported and it makes one wonder what has happened to the good drivers! Where are they now?

GOLDBERG - BOHR

Kenneth Alden Bohr and the Rev. Gwyneth Griffin Bohr announce the marriage of their daughter, Katherine Alden Bohr, to Eric Paul Goldberg, on Aug. 22. at their home on Chapman Street in Bethel.

It was quite a family affair. The bride, in a soft pink wedding gown with a train, was escorted by her father, married by her mother, and attended by her sisters. Gretchen Bohr Courage and Sarah Bohr Alexander. Flower boys and girls were her nieces, Emily Courage and Meredith Alexander; her nephew, Stephen Courage; Eric's nephew, Danny Goldberg; the bride's godson, Ned Holets, and also friends' children, Alex Lynaugh and Margaux Brown. The ring bearer was on old friend, Emily Tucker Brown. The best man was the groom's brother, Andrew Goldberg.

Many friends and family participated in the wedding in the garden, the reception in the house, and the dancing in the barn. Although the Bohrs have not been in Bethel very long, Katy commented "I wouldn't have wanted to be married any place else."

The museum is now closed.

Local artists/craftspeople teaching adult ed. courses

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program includes a number of courses this fall designed to provided opportunities of adults to obtain instruction and practice in several artistic areas, which offer ample outlets for individual creativity. Instructing these courses are several extremely talented local artists and craftspeople.

Back in the SAD #44 line-up of fall courses is Stained Glass, which includes project design and lead and foil work for beginners and those with experience. Students may design and make a project of their choice from a sun-catcher to a lamp or window, in this course on Monday evenings at Telstar with Robin Fraser of Newry as instructor. Mrs. Fraser received her training with Bob Grover, and has been teaching for four years in the SAD #44 program. She displays and sells her own wark at craft fairs, and has assisted many of her students in producing items of exceptional quality for their homes.

Paper-Making is a new course for 1987 in adult education and will include exploration of basic papermaking procedures including Japanese methods and a variety of techniques and materials. Use of color and materials to achieve ifridescence and textures will be explored in a 3-session course with Sarah Chapman of Bethel on Tuesday evenings at Telstar. This course will introduce a new art form to the area, and, according to the instructor, allows great creativity using quite simple methods and inexpen-

Drawing courses were very successful last year in SAD #44's program during both the fall and winter terms, with members of one class even meeting informally during the winter between class sessions. Adult and Community Education Director Cathy Newell expressed delight at having both drawing teachers return to staff this fall, offering adult students the choice of morning or evening classes. Drawing, including contour line, shading and perspective will be taught on Thursday evening at Telstar by Arla Patch, who had just joined the SAD #44 staff as a teacher in the Creative and Talented program. Basic drawing skills are stressed, but the class welcomes students of varied levels of experience. Ms. Patch's drawing class last year had an excellent show of their class work at the Telstar Christmas Fair, and Ms. Patch has had many years of art teaching experience, and shows of her own work in a variety of media.

Sue Wight will teach a Drawing class at the Bethel House community room on Tuesday evenings using varied media. This class received special commendation from the Department of Educational tion office, 824-2780.

THIS WEEK AT THE

Once again SAD #44 Adult and Community Education and the Bethel Historical Society are cooperating on another historical tour. This one will be to one of Maine's earliest towns-York, one of the most historically significant communities in the state. The town was first settled in 1630 under a Royal Charter from Charles I to his friend, Sir Fernando Gorges, Dreaming of a great and marvelous city to rise out of the wilderness, Gorges had the town chartered in 1640 and named it Gorgeana after himself. In 1652, Massachusetts obtained control of the Province of Maine, and the city of Gorgeana was reduced to the status of a town and renamed York. The town was a prosperous community during the 18th century and served as the Provincial capital of Maine. Here was located the King's Prison as well as numerous wharves and warehouses active in the lucrative West Indies trade.

Surplus agricultural goods and lumber were shipped to Great Britain an her colonies, providing the town with a vibrant economy and steady growth, The conflicts between France and England in the 1790s and the American Embargo ruined the economy. The town did not prosper again until after the Civil War when York developed a fashionable tourist

The tour will take place on Saturday, Oct. 10. A SAD #44 school bus will leave from in front of the Dr. Moses Mason House at 7 a.m., and make stops at the mill parking lot in Locke Mills and at the Village Store in Bryant Pond. The bus is scheduled to arrive in York at 10 a.m. at tours of five buildings have been arranged. In the morning the group will visit the school house, Emerson-Wilcox house, Jefford's Tayern. There will be a break for lunch and then two more sites will be visited-the Perkins house and the John Hancock warehouse. Anyone wishing to go on this trip is urged to register early as seating is limited. The fee is $12 which covers transportation and admissions. Please call SAD #44 Adult and Community Education at 824-2780 or the Bethel Historical Society at 824-2908, Watch this column for further details about the sites to be visited or call the historical society more information is needed.

Sharon Hutchins will offer a course in Basic Calligraphy, including beginning hand lettering techniques just in time for special Christmas projects. Mrs. Hutchins emphasizes that this is an introductory course. She is a member of the SAD #44 Adult and Community Education Advisory Concil and operates a popular craft shop in Andover.

Students will make several different types of baskets under the direction of Louise Seames, of Locke Mills, in a Basketry course to be offered at the Andover School on Thursday nights starting on Sept. 24. Mrs. Seames has become a proficient basketmaker and is selling her work at craft fairs and in area shops. She learned her craft in the adult education classes of Jan Todd, of Bethel.

Carol Emery will offer Exercise and Aerobics classes on Monday and Thursday nights in the Andover School, with an exercise session from 7 to 8 and aerobics from 8 to 9. Classes may be taken separately or together.

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, is endeavoring to bring frequently to you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your daily life.

Hidden in Jesus' parable of the workers in the vineyard (Matthew 20:1-16) is a lesson about the free grace

As we read it, we tend quickly to identify with those who worked all day in the hot sun-especially if we devote a lot of church. Surely we deserve more than those who work less, we think. Don't we have a right to complain? But as Jesus warns in the beginning, this ia a parable of the Kingdom, a little picture of the way things will be when our prayer "Thy will be done," is answered. If the boss in Jesus' story is God, the words are addressed to us: "Friend, I am not being unfair to you. Didn't you agree to work for a denarious?... Don't I have the right to do what I want with my money? Or are you envious because I am generous?" How about it? Are we getting what was agreed upon, and in the case of God's blessings, more than we could have hoped for? Is God being unfair, or is it our envy that puts our noses out of joint when we see someone enjoy apparently better fortune than we have? Do we want

God to be free? We are glad that God was free to protect the Israelites of old from the action of the Pharaoh. We rejoice that God was free to preserve God's love, acting through Jesus and the apostles, from the attempts of Pilate and the religious authorities to squelch that love. Is God not still free today to protect the poor and oppressed from the actions of powerful rulers? In fact, should not we, as people who know God's love, be pleading with today's presidents and legislators to meet the basic human needs of people, here or in other countries? Given our shortcomings in worship and service, perhaps church people should thank the freedom of God for the very existence of the church. Indeed, given the world's nuclear stockpiles and international quarrels, the fact that humankind has not yet blown up the earth could be due to the actions of an "unfair" but infinitely kind and free God. The parables of the workers in the vineyard, at the very least, points up the Apt. B-12, Rustfield Village. free but fallible humans to be humble before the freedom of God. It may mean eat lunch at the Goldstreet Restaurant that to our human eyes, as Jesus says, "The last will be first, and the first will be last." But as Donald W. Shriver, Jr. (The Christian Century, Vol. 104, No. 23, p. 690) put it, 'The freedom of God transcends every human freedom, and this truth is the hope of the world." Brendon Bass, co-pastor West Parish Congregational Church

Conference which will be sponsored by SAD 44 Adult and Community Education and the Bethel/NTL Liaison Committee on Oct. 30 at the Bethel Inn Conference Center. The Community Conference will be a day long opportunity for individuals interested in the future of the SAD #44 area to come together to discuss issues involved in planning for the future and to devise action plans for work on many effort to our job, our community or our topics. The conference will be facilitated by Eva Schindler-Rainmann, a nationally-renowed consultant and longtime NTL member. Some of the Issues which were identified at a priliminary session held in August of 1986 were development pressure, preservation of small town character, education, edonomic development, are expected to form the agenda for the October 30 day. with the possible addition of other priority items. Cost to attend the conference will be modest, with the goal being to acheive a large attendance of people in> ductive outcomes. The planning meeting will be held at Telstar Regional High School on Thursday, Sept. 17, at 7 p.m. Volunteers are needed to work during the month before the conference on publicity and outreach to insure that a broad range of interests are represented at the conference. Help will also be needed on Oct. 29 and 30 with set up and clean up and at the conference itself as recorders. Anyone interested in helping with the conference is urged to attend the meeting Thursday evening or to call the Adult Education Office

SWOAM annual field day at Weston farm Sept. 19

The Small Woodlot Owners Association of Maine (SWOAM) are holding their annual field on Saturday, Sept. 19, at Bill Weston's farm on Rte. 2, between Rumford Point and Rumford Center. Activities start with free coffee and doughnuts at 8:30 a.m., with the program starting at 9:30 a.m., rain or shine.

In addition to the usual pruning, thinning and harvesting demonstrations, several new, intriguing systems and equipment will be displayed and shown under working conditions. These include a Dimension portable sawmill, two home-made skidder/forwarders, a medium sized mobile chipper and brush saws. Availability of owner management plans will be discussed and made available to interested landowners. The walking tour even includes a visit to a huge blue heron nest and areas of erosion control on woods roads.

The morning program includes some talking and some walking. Lunch will be available at noon, and many exhibits and static demonstrations are planned from 13 p.m. All landowners and the public Office skills courses offered by adult ed.

The SAD #44 Adult and Community Education program for Fall 1987 includes a number of courses of interest to those who are interested in developing or refining their office skills. These include Typing, which will provide instruction and practice in the use of IBM wheelwriters and other electronic typewriters. The text used will be Keyboarding/Typewriting and the class will be taught by Cheryl Lord of the Telstar Regional High School business department. The course is appropriate for beginners or for those who need brush up work, and will be held on Tuesday evenings at Telstar. Students who do not have a typewriter at home may arrange for practice time in addition to regular class hours. Accounting / will be team taught by Bruce Powell and Cindy Moxcey of the SAD #44 Central Office staff and this course will cover the accounting cycle in its basic form-for those in a small office or a home business. Mr. Powell has taught accounting courses for Husson College and UMF in Rumford and both he and Mrs. Moxcey have a broad range of business and office experience to bring to the course which will meet on Wednesdays at Telstar.

Computer courses are very popular throughout the year according to Adult and Community Education Director Cathy Newell. The current course offera 5-week introduction for the beginner, covering the operation and uses of Apple will run for 10 weeks. personal computers.
